INTROSPECTION

ARTIST STATEMENT

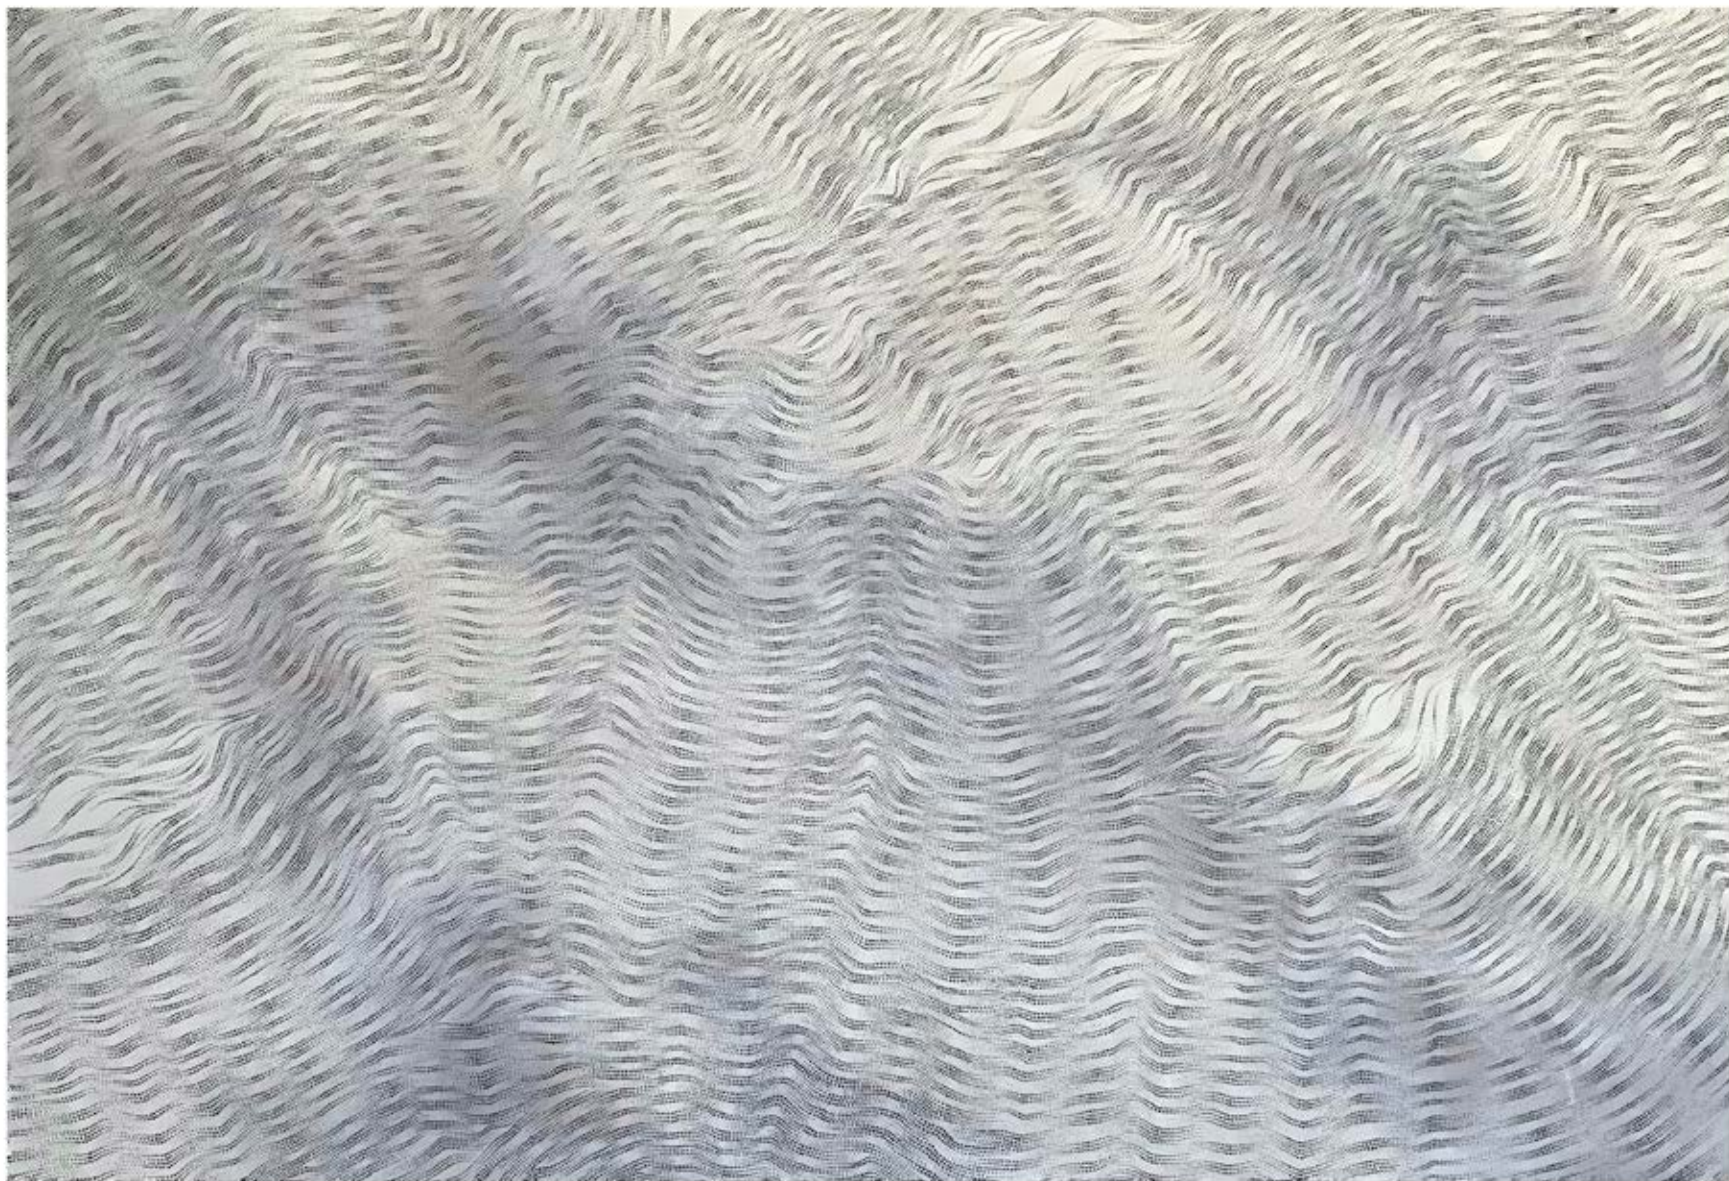

Working with pointillism is like meditation and worship for me, black and white dots represent my solitary confinement in a Hujra with prayer beads. My work is constantly evolving, bringing new meaning to it, sometimes reflecting like broken patterns from puzzles. My painting technique affects me in a vital and subtle way that moves forward and flows like water in a river that falls in the ocean. Sometimes I stop and start in another space and leave the mark of the rupture, where one needs to re-enter and discover the inner universe of my painting. My repetitive approach is intentional and untiring, it releases unknown feelings that connect with my surroundings.
